CFF to Offers 3rd Session of Financial Peace University

For the third year in a row, the Center for Fathers and Families of AR is offering Dave Ramsey's Financial Peace University to the community. This session begins Tuesday, January 6th and continues for thirteen weeks ending on March 31st. Financial Peace University meets for two hours class weekly to offer support and success to anyone concerned about dumping debt and building wealth. Each session begins with Dave Ramsey teaching a powerful principle via DVD and concludes when each small group has discussed how they will implement this principle in their household that week. Participants must pre-register to attend..

CFF first offered Financial Peace University in January 2007. Six couples beat the national average by paying off $15,000 of debt and saved $9,000 during the 91 days of the course. They also avoided 3.5 million dollars worth of credit card debt.

This year's orientation is available online. Interested participants should use CFF's website to link to Dave's introductory video and then return to the CFF site to register and pay for their Lifetime Membership Kit. The first 20 registrants will be subsidized by a grant to purchase their kit for only $100--a savings of $49 per household. Sessions will be held at the Center for Fathers and Families, 4100 Linwood Dr. in Paragould Call CFF for information.
